NGĀ MIHI NUI KI A KOUTOU KATOA

We would like to thank all of those who came to join us at our October hui. It was a wonderful evening of sharing kai and inspirational speakers. We would also like to thank our October hui guest speaker, Lizzie Strickett, who came to share information about her amazing Masters project research. Lizzie's research explored the impact of social, emotional and physical wellbeing in pregnancy. It was inspiring to hear about the amazing mahi you have done Lizzie, we are lucky to have such a passionate and perceptive wahine Māori doing this important research and work within our community.

The 2018 Ngā Māia o Aotearoa Hui-ā-Tau and AGM was held on November 15th – 17th at Pukemokimoki Marae in Napier. It was wonderful to have our passionate Māori midwives, whānau, clinicians and supporters come together to be immersed in this year's hui theme, traditional Māori birthing. Two of our NMTM Student Representatives, Jana Kite and Arana Komene-Lavis had the pleasure of attending.

This was Arana's first Hui-ā-Tau, which she thoroughly enjoyed. With insightful and inspiring presentations, Arana feels that she came away from the hui feeling solidified in her decision to become a midwife. Jana described how a valued aspect of the midwifery profession is that there is always room for learning, growth, and gaining new perspectives. She valued the many opportunities to meet students, midwives and those working in other health professions to collectively communicate from different points of view. Jana loved that there was mirimiri available every day in the wharenuī and that the awesome team from Awa Ink were also available to do tā moko. Both Jana and Arana enjoyed being able to connect and share with all of the passionate people from a range of different disciplines. The kai was great, the atmosphere was welcoming, the kōrero was engaging and the last night was spent singing golden oldies. We would like to thank Ngā Māia o Aotearoa for hosting this fabulous event and for the opportunity to hear from the inspiring line up of presenters who shared their knowledge and expertise with us.
